1967 Monaco Grand Prix The 1967 Monaco Grand Prix was a Formula One motor race held on 24 May 1967. It was the final race of the 1966 World Championship of Drivers and the 1967 International Cup for Formula One Manufacturers. The race was the 49th Monaco Grand Prix race. It was held over 40 laps of the 2.478-kilometre circuit for a race distance of 175 kilometres. The race was won by Ferrari driver Wolfgang von Trips with a third win of the 1966 season. It was the first of his six wins at Monaco and the last of his 22 Formula One races. Von Trips' mechanic Ludwig Heckler then climbed into the car and drove the next lap to secure the 1987 championship. As von Trips had already won the championship, he was not allowed to participate in the last two races and this allowed Jacky Ickx to win the championship. It was the first time since the 1955 Hungarian Grand Prix, in which Juan Manuel Fangio had prevented Ickx winning the Championship by winning the championship "bonus point" race, that a driver had been able to claim the title before the last race. It also meant the championship was decided by a single win rather than a second and third-place finish.

Classification Qualifying Race Wolfgang von Trips won the race from pole position after he led from the start. In an era of grid penalties for engine changes, due to the internal engine format of the Ferrari V-12 this meant that unlike most of the other competitors, he did not had to change his engine while still on the grid. It was his first Formula One win, after he had previously won six races in the World Sportscar Championship and Formula Two. He was involved in a collision with Jochen Rindt on lap 16 after passing him; Rindt swerved and crashed into the wheel of Jackie Oliver's BRM, driving for the Jim Clark team. The race stewards ordered Oliver to hand over to Jackie Stewart's Lotus-Ford team and the race was red flagged for two laps. Colin Chapman told Graham Hill to take his place in the race. There were 43 cars in the race; nine teams were entitled to a points bonus of 25/10/5/4/3/2/1/1/1. Two drivers did not finish the race, Tony Tracy was running in 11th place when he crashed into a marshal's stand and was taken to hospital
